SIX BURGLARIES.

Mr. T. W. Wood's Safe Cracked and Robbed in Daylight on Sunday-Five Other Places of Business Broken Into-- No Clue to the Robbers-Believed to be Boys.

Saturday night and Sunday was a busy time for the burglars.

On Saturday night between 10:30 o'clock and Sunday morning some one enterd the millinery store of Mrs. E. M. Strock in the second story of the brick building on Second street between Market and Dock streets, and robbed the money box of $3 in cash and a note for $60 given to Mrs. Strock by her brother-in-law, Mr. Labon Peterson. Mrs. Streck says she closed the store at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night, leaving the cash and note in a small box which she had placed in a drawer. Before leaving she fastened the windows and doors, but on Sunday morning she found a window open on the Dock street side, and a ladder leaning against the side of the building. The window sash was broken, and it is believed that the burglar reached the window and got in by means of the ladder. The door leading from the store into the hall was found locked but a side door had been forcd open. The cash box, which had been broken open, was found underneath the window and near it 20 cents in change was picked up. The police were notified, but there is no clue to the robber.

Saturday night, some one also entered the barber shop of Churchill Moore on Front street between Market and Dock streets. He went down to the shop Sunday about 9:30 o'clock and found one of the back windows open. He, however, did not miss antyhing. He thinks it was a small boy that committed the deed.

On Saturday night a burglar also paid a visit to the store of Adam Brown, colored, in Front street market. The safe was tampered with but without success. The thief took some change from the money drawer, and a few cigars from the show case: It is believed that the thief was a boy.

On Sunday morning between 11 o'clock and 2 o'clock p. m., the store on Princess street occupied in the rear by Mr. T. W. Wood as an office and in front by Mr. J. W. Plummer, Jr., with a stock of confectionaries, was entered. Mr. Wood and Captain J. W. Plummer were in the store during the morning, but the former left about 11 o'clock to go to church and Captain Plummer about 1 p. m. to go to dinner. About 2 p. m. Mr. Wood went back to the store and found that his safe had been cracked and robbed. He says he is not sure whether he locked the safe door or not but it was found opened without any mark of violence upon it. The drawers inside the safe, however, had been torn out and prized open, a complete wreck having been made of the interior of the safe. Mr. Wood 'had a small amount of money of his own in the safe and Mr. J. W. Plummer, Jr., had $15 in one of the drawers. The thief stole Mr. Plummer's money and $2 of Mr. Wood's change, but left in the floor a couple of tin boxes containing about $3 in coppers and silver change. A chissel and a bunch of keys were also found in the floor. It is said entrance was effected through one of the back windows. A dusty old table outside, just under the window, bore a very small track, but if it was a boy that got in, it is believed he did so to let in a man, as a and left it open. It was subsequently discovered that someone had entered the real estate office of Mr. W. M. Cumming next door to Mr. Wood, having gotten in at one of the rear windows. The drawers in the office had been opened and the papers thrown into the floor but nothing was missed. The safe was locked and had not been interfered with. It was found out that the keys left in Mr. Wood's store had been taken from Mr. Cumming's office.

iron drawers of the safe. The thief made his exit through the back door

Messrs. C. W. Yates & Co.'s book store was also entered between 12 m. and 5 p. m. on Sunday. The burglar climbed on a shed at the rear of the store, took a glass from the skylight of the shed and by this means got inside of the shed. He then prized open one of the rear windows, breaking an oak bar that held it, and got into the store. Two money drawers were smashed but they contained no money. It is not known whether any goods

Byron used a great deal of hairdressing, but was very particular to have only the best to be found in the market. If Ayer's Hair Vigor had been obtainable then, doubtless he would have tested its merits, as so many distinguished and fashionable people are doing now-a-days.

THE SEASHORE HOTEL.

The Formal Opening to Take Place Tonight-A Fine Band Will Furnish Music and There Will be a Grand Ball-A Splendid Supper Will be Served.

Mr. George Campbell's elegant new hotel, which opened informally a few days ago, has already demonstrated its claim to popularity and starts off on a rapid pace in the establishment of a reputation that will sweep from here to the Mississippi. The names of fifty guests decerated the register on Sunday and they speak in extravagant terms of the appoinments of the hotel and its delightfulness, are flattering in their praise of the fare, and are enthusiastic over the admirable hospitality that Mr. Campbell dispenses at this hostelry by the sea.

Mr. Campbell has now completed the equipment of his hotel, and the formal opening will take place tonight. A magnificent supper will be the first feature, and afterwards there will be a grand ball. The best band in the state will furnish music, and the occasion will be one long to be remembered by all who go down to the "opening."

On account of this event there will be a late train from the beach. There is no gainsaying that a great crowd will go down, and that there will be a gay time at the "Seashore" on this oc-

THE PRESS ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Convention at Morehead City the Past Week-The Best Meeting Ever Held-An Aggressive Movement in Behalf of Education.

The convention of the North Carolina were stolen or not. This is the third Press Association, held at Morehead raid on Messrs. Yates & Co., in the past | during the past week, was attended by a large number of newspaper men, and The police worked on these cases yes- the business transacted was calculated terday but at last accounts had not got to benefit the papers of the state more than that of any previous meeting.

Several matters of interest to newspaper men were discussed in a practical manner, and every member was greatly benefitted.

A committee is to be appointed by President Whitaker to take into consideration the employment of a special advertising agent, with headquarters in New York, to look after the interests of the members in securing and making

Much interest was manifested in the elections to be held in August on the question of levying special taxes for school purposes in the various counties. Several members spoke on the need of more schools and the importance and necessity of keeping them open longer than at present in many of the counties. North Carolina and her people must be better educated, and that cannot be educating the children. The following resolution adopted expresses the sense of the editors:

"Resolved, That this association de-

Tillman's Report on His Dispensary Bill. Washington, June 14.-Senator Tillman, from the committee on interestate commerce, today submitted a report on his bill for the amendment of the Wilson law concerning the commerce in liquor between the state. This bill is intended to legalize the South Carolina dispensary and the report made today says its enactment, in view of the recent decision of Judge Simonton, is necessary to protect the state from the evils of intemperance. The report also

"If the state of South Carolina is to be flooded as it will be by liquors under the pretext that they are for private use, when in fact they are for sale without analysis, it is readily seen what obstacles are thrown in the way of state control."

The conclusion is drawn that no remedy is left for restricting intemperance, except prohibition, and that is pronounced a failure.

One of these is the clock in the tower of the court house at Hillsboro, which yet tells the hours, and the other the charter of Wake county. Both gifts were from His Most Gracious Majesty, King George the Third. And yet here are people who have used some of their time in trying to explode what they term the "Wake Myth." These unbelievers and romance destrovers decline to believe that Esther Wake was Governor Tryon's sister-in-law; that she was as lovely as the sunrise; that this county was named in her honor; that its first county seat was Bloomsburg, named in honor to My Lady Tryon's town-house in London. These unbelievers and doubt ers are of a piece with those who cast insinuations against the authenticity of the Mecklenburg Declaration.

The old Presbyterian church here will be torn down either this year or next, to make way for a better building. In this old structure the sessions of the house of commons were held during those years between the burning of the old capitol and the completion of the new one.

One of the gifts your correspondent has made to the state library is the key of the south door of the old capitol. It was taken out while the building was in flames and the man who took it saw, as he looked in at the open door-way, the famous statue of Washington, sitting there, coldly calm, with the fire wreathing about it. The fire ruined this pride of Canova. The head was never found. It was said it was carried away. This is probably untrue. Most of the statue is in the state museum. Portions of it are scattered over the state. One fragment is at the woman's exposition at Charlotte. Efforts were made to restore it in 1838; of couse they failed. Much of it is so colcined that it breaks into powder.

Of all the letter-books of the old time governors which rest in the book cases in the executive office that of Governor Thomas Eurke is the most interesting One of the first letters copied in it is from Samuel Johnson, dated Edenton, 1775, in which the writer says he has just seen the legislature in session and that it was a very poor body. He expresses his fear that the colony is breaking away from the mother country, and evidently had but little faith in a republic

This is the period when athletics of the brain and body go fittingly together Your correspondent sugasted to President Alderman at the university commencement last week that there ought to be on commencement day a fine and varied display of athletics, filling in two hours in the afternoon. The populists do some queer things. One of them was speaking the other day about the action in requiring Senator Vance ' sign their "demand" before they would a ree to vote for him. This populist was asked: "Suppose Vance had not signed-might he not have been elected?" 'Maybe so", was his reply. Then he went on to say that the populists did not really expect Vance would sign; that they had to do something to make a start of their sub-treasury propaganda of which the "trusty and well-beloved" Harry Skinner was the discoverer and apostle. Then this populist very cooly added that "of course, the poulists and others never thought so much of Vance after he did sign the demands." Now, that was a true display of human nature. A moral lurks in all this, and it isn't much of a puzzle to find it

The items in the newspapers about the singing of the "Old North State" by Bob Taylor, of Tennessee, last week, as a compliment to Governor Russell and party, and the fact that the bands at Nashville, are to play it for the North Carolina veterans, recalls the fact that it is the only "state song," save "Maryland, My Maryland," which was written by James R. Randall. William Gaston, perhaps, in all respects North Carolina's greatest man, wrote the "Old North State." His fine face looks out from the canvass in the supreme court room. The lady who played the air of this state song the first time, lives here. These many years she has been an invalid. Her home is but a few yards away from the office which Judge Gaston occupied and her room, on the second floor, is literally emboeuerd in flowers and graceful foliage plants.
